Last week a luncheon was held at the Officers and Civilians Open Mess in honor of the mayors' assistants and secretaries to thank them for their collaboration and understanding in promoting Franco-American ties. In the past, the mayors of the communes of the Orleans area had been feted at receptions twice a year.

Once Every Four Years Voters' Voices Heard

As members of the Armed Forces we are being urged—and will be for months to come—to take interest in, and concern ourselves with the issues of the campaign.

Is this because it is thought that the services can deliver their votes in one whopping block or that men and women in uniform will be intimidated from above to do so?

That's silly, of course. We vote as individuals, according to our convictions and loyalties. This is our right as American citizens.

But there was a time in our country's history when we couldn't take pride in this. It wasn't true. From years before the Civil War, many states feared service voters and had laws against them. They felt that Army posts could thus impose military control over neighboring communities.

In fact, in 1860 only 13 of the 34 states gave servicemen the ballot—and it wasn't absentee! They had to cast it in person. The Civil War, putting large numbers of vote-conscious men in uniform, changed this situation; yet in postwar years the restrictions gradually slipped back. WWI saw absentee voting readopted, but with almost two million Americans overseas the machinery for the exercise of their right broke down.

So it's something to think about. The serviceman today does not inherit a right immemorial. Our privilege isn't as old as U.S. history. That's all the more reason to determine we'll use it wisely now.

One Hundred Eighty Four Years of U.S. History, Traditions

One hundred and eighty-four years ago, on July 4, 1776, the elders of the original thirteen colonies of the United States gathered in Philadelphia to adopt a document drafted by five of their number. The document was the Declaration of Independence.

The world of 1776 saw them only as a few malcontents crying out against the rule of an old and established nation. Many of them were not aware of the significance of the step they were taking. Yet their voices were clear above the political chaos created by the foreign rule of a vast and remote territory.

Fourth of July Fireworks Scheduled for Patton Field

Members of the French and American communities are invited to attend the dazzling Fourth of July fireworks display, to be held at Patton Field on Monday. The celebration will start at 9:30 pm and terminate at 10:30 pm.

The fireworks themselves will include various colors, patterns and shapes. One display of five bombs will highlight seventy-five colors. Another display will feature a breath-taking fire picture speedily turning around like a waltz whirl. An outstanding display will feature fireworks in the form of a pine tree with brightly shining bulbs. The American colors of red, white and blue stars will be shown in other numerous and colorful displays. So, come out for an evening of fun and fireworks under the stars.

In the intervening 184 years we have become a great nation in terms of the strength of our democratic institutions. Our faith — a faith in free men and free government — we have held up to the world. We have been true to this faith in both spirit and action. It is this faith that we commemorate on Independence Day.

We are a young nation in terms of years. It is true however, that we are living in a swiftly moving, accelerated age, one that has seen more momentous events in fifty years than had occurred in the previous five hundred. "Rome wasn't built in a day", the saying goes, but figuratively speaking, the two great powers of the modern world were. Our military strength serves as an effective deterrent to any possible aggressor.

Pet Immunization, Disposal Clarified

Personnel of this command permanently assigned in France who own or acquire animal pets will, within ten days after the arrival or acquisition of the pets in France, have the animal examined by a U.S. Armed Forces Veterinarian. Immunizations will be administered in accordance with paragraph 18b (2), SR 40-940-5. Rabies immunization of all privately owned animals will be accomplished by a U.S. Armed Forces Veterinary Officer, veterinarians in the employ of U.S. Forces or a licensed veterinarian in the United States within the six-month period before registration in this command. These animals will be revaccinated once every 12 months from the date of the last vaccination.

To Leave Your Pets Behind
Military and civilian personnel in the Orleans Area Command not able to find suitable homes for their pets or not desiring to ship their pets Stateside are requested to take them to the humane animal refuge located at the Rue d'Ambert in Orleans. The foster home supplies rations for the animals and makes every effort to find good homes for them.

Personnel Processing Center Relocated

The Personnel Processing Center has been relocated to Building S-101 south of the main gate, Coligny Caserne. Services rendered by the Center are: processing of newly arrived officers, DACs, enlisted personnel with dependents and all other dependents 16 years of age and older; renewal and amendment of passports; renewal of French identification cards; identification photos; and post clearance for all personnel departing the command. Hours of operation are from 8 am to 5 pm, Monday through Friday.

our views will win in the struggle between those who would enslave men to the ends of the state and those who believe in the individual freedom and dignity of mankind.

Even though men and machines can never replace a strong faith in America, we find it necessary to keep our military constantly on the alert and to devote a large part of our national income to maintaining and strengthening our defense efforts. In creating and maintaining a peacetime Army, we are creating "a power for peace". It is true that the concept of a standing military force in time of peace is foreign to the traditions of our nation. It is a necessity forced upon us by the world we live in. Ours is a defensive mission. Our policy is to never threaten the national integrity of any foreign power.

We are striving to create and maintain an alert body of young men and women so that our defense potential will be at maximum strength. The spectacle of preparedness invoked by a free people upon themselves is something that may well give heart to captive peoples and strike fear into those who control them for their own ends.

An alert and strong America, whose people fully appreciate the Declaration of Independence which brought our union into being, need not fear any form of aggression. Such a people will maintain the secure station to which the laws of Nature and Nature's God entitle all men.

Families of E-4's Overseas Now Eligible for Dependent Privileges

Overseas Army unit commanders have been given authority to certify as "eligible dependents," families of E-4's who are abroad, even though the E-4 did not have enough time in grade when he left the United States to bring his family along at Government expense, the Department of the Army announced in Washington.

Although this new policy goes into effect immediately, local overseas commanders will not be able to take action on applications from E-4's who fall into this category until the new directive reaches their headquarters.

Many dependents of E-4's travelled overseas on a space available basis or got here at their own expense. They are so-called "unauthorized dependents." Under the new policy change, unit commanders can declare them eligible dependents.

CANNOT DENY

At the same time, a new Army Circular (608-7), outlining the policy concerning dependents of E-4's whose sponsors had less than four years minimum service time at the PCS sending him overseas, said that

Boat Cabins for Rotating Families Greatly Reduced

According to a communication received from USAREUR Headquarters, cabin space aboard ships sailing to the United States has been cut drastically for July in an Army move to make maximum use of air travel for families rotating from Europe.

The Army policy on overseas transfers is to provide air flights insofar as possible consistent with the dictates of economy and efficiency and in compliance with current directives on support of the military seas transportation service passenger fleet.

The impact of this decision will result in a drastic reduction of all surface spaces to CONUS from Northern Europe (Bremerhaven and Le Havre). For example, during the month of July 1960, Department of the Army has allocated this command approximately 1,290 surface spaces for Army-sponsored cabin class passengers. Only thirty-three commercial surface spaces are included in this allocation.

During July 1960, this command has a requirement to move approximately 10,000 cabin class passengers to CONUS. On the basis of present surface space allocation, this means that only thirteen percent of the total passenger requirement will move to CONUS by surface transportation. The remaining passengers, amounting to approximately eighty-seven percent for the total requirement, must be furnished air transportation.

Swimmers: Avoid Loire

It is forbidden to all U.S. personnel and their dependents to swim in the Loire River. There are no authorized bathing areas along any part of the river and violators leave themselves open not only to disciplinary action, but to a number of diseases which are found in unclean water.

Army commanders abroad cannot deny dependents of eligible personnel residing near their sponsors medical care and available commissary and post exchange privileges simply because they are on an "unauthorized" status.

The new publication clearly defines the Department of Defense's iron-clad rules against the travel at government expense of such dependents. It also now forbids their travel on a space available basis.

These restrictions apply even when sponsors later achieve eligibility by promotion or attainment of more than four years service at their overseas stations.

NO ARMY RESTRICTION

But the Army pointed out that no regulation can forbid dependent citizens from travel to, or residence in, foreign nations at their own expense. They have the same privileges as any American citizen.

Therefore if dependents of E-4's who attain eligibility overseas choose to reside near their sponsors under such circumstances, commanders may grant them PX and commissary privileges if such privileges are available to authorized dependents.

Readers Urged To Stay Off Highways; Spend 4th at Library

Library Offers Patriotic Books for July 4th

July 4, 1776... It was a hot day then just as it usually is each year when we all head for the beaches to cool off. Donald Barr Chidsey recreates for you an hour-by-hour account of that event which started us celebrating - The Declaration of Independence. JULY 4, 1776 is the title of his book in which you again meet the people, see the actions and await the outcome of that humid day in Philadelphia when the Continental Congress voted to declare us the United States.

The ten years preceding the Revolution were also crucial years and John C. Miller, author of ORIGINS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, proves the war was a conflict between the autocratic and democratic ideologies. He gets at the realities underlying politics on both sides of the Atlantic, and the captivating feature of the book is the series of lifelike portraits the author presents of the often-time wooden images of Patrick Henry, James Otis and others.

Two pictorial histories of the period are THE AMERICAN HERITAGE BOOK OF THE REVOLUTION and THE STORY OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE. The American Heritage book colorfully illustrates the story of our country's birth from Lexington to Yorktown. Many of the 600 pictures used in this book have been taken from archives all over the world and have never been reproduced before. THE STORY OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE is a pictorial history that gives background of political events leading up to the signing of the Declaration, distinctive sketches of the signers, and a complete history of the actual document.

Helen Augurs' account of THE SECRET WAR OF INDEPENDENCE throws a new light on the importance of Benjamin Franklin. Miss Auke says that Franklin was a realist "who habitually thought of America not as a remote group of colonies, but as a future nation among the nations of the Western world." From the reports of ambassadors and secret agents the author shows Franklin as a wizard of intrigue as he was busy exploiting the rivalries of the European powers to the advantage of the colonies.

Take another look at the most fascinating period in American history when you visit your Special Services Library on the 4th of July. The Coligny Caserne library will be open that day from 1:30 to 9:30 pm. That's a good day to stay off the highways and return your overdue books!

Army Librarians in France Conduct Annual Conference

The annual meeting of all the Special Services Army librarians in France was held recently at the NCO Club at Harbord Barracks.

This year the three-day conference concentrated on the library as a basic product of books. Much concentration was also given on discussing what books children enjoy reading. One session was devoted to professional magazines and books in an effort to provide better books and service. The several meetings were devoted to business—working out administrative problems.

Invited as annual guests to the conference were five Air Force librarians. Perhaps of most interest to the librarians was a provocative and enlightening tour to a French publishing firm in Larousse. Here the group of twenty-three were shown how the books were printed and color reproductions.

Two prominent speakers addressed the conference during the three day period. One speaker was Mrs. Frank Di Nenzo, who is the school librarian for the two Orleans

...For over three years, 1,875 independent radio stations all over America, Guam, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, carried this soft Texas drawl as Tom hosted the United States Army National Recruiting Show entitled "Country-Style U.S.A."

Commuting between New York and Nashville, Tennessee, the capital of country western music, Tom worked closely with such outstanding artists as Hank Snow, Roy Acuff, Ferlin Husky, Faron Young, Ray Price, Webb Pierce and many many more. Many of them come from the CW show of shows, "Grand Ole Opry."

Daniels enlisted in 1940 and took basic training at Dodd Field, Texas. During the war years he landed on Guadalcanal and Savo Islands in the Solomons and then to Bantka and Bougainville. With ample points for discharge to spare Sgt Daniels took off his uniform on Christmas Day, 1945.

Reenlisting in 1947 he attended the Motion Picture Sound Recording School at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, graduating in the upper ten percent of his class. Excepting a combat tour in Korea, Daniels has been constantly associated with either radio or motion pictures.

In 1956 he was assigned to the U. S. Army Recruiting Publicity Center, New York City. It was on this tour that he MC'd "Country Style U.S.A." and a U.S. Air Force show called "Country Music Time". Stars on the first show were Webb Pierce, Carl Smith, Pee Wee King and Bobby Lord.

Two Orleans WAC Units Join Softball Conference

Play in the 1960 USAREUR-USAFE Women's Interservice Softball Conference will get underway July 16 when the Wacs of the 34th General Hospital at La Chapelle take on the Wacs at USAMSCA, Poitiers.

At precisely the same time the Detachment C Wacs will travel to Paris to play the Wacs at SHAPE. The conference will continue through August 21 and positions in each conference will be determined by the percentage of games won or lost for the scheduled season. Western Conference competition will consist of a double round robin two-game series on a home and home basis for each team.

The newly activated Poitiers Wac Detachment has been getting in shape for the last few weeks. Many of its outstanding players are former Detachment C stars. Included in their tentative lineup are players Lora Lee Stump, Flora Merrill, Barbara Faith, Thelma Ford, Ann Stansell, Arlene Papkey, Marjorie Weaver, Lucille Gonzales, Lillian Propst and Lora Gonzales. The players to watch are Weaver, pitcher, and Papkey, first base who are expected to contribute much to the team's successful play.

Teams constituting the Western Conference are the 34th General Hospital Wacs, Detachment C, Harbord Barracks Activity, SHAPE and EUCOM (combined) Wacs and the Poitiers Wacs. The team placing first in each of the four conferences (Western, Northern, Southern, Air Force) will receive team trophies. Thirteen WAC/WAF teams will compete in the USAFE Women's Interservice Softball Championships to be held in Garmisch, Germany, sometime in September.

Winners and runners-up in the Northern and Southern conferences will advance to the championship round, while the first place Western team will win a spot in the WAC/WAF diamond finals.

Coch Praises Army Program

"The Army boxing program in Europe is the best of its kind I've seen." With these words of praise, American Olympic boxing coach Julius Menendez of San Jose State College highlighted the USAREUR Special Services boxing coaches' clinic held June 13-17 at the William O. Marby Kasern in Nurnberg.

Sixty-five USAREUR rosin coaches from ten athletic conferences were the Olympic mentor expertly combined classroom lectures, ring demonstrations and training films to acquaint attendees with modern coaching and training techniques.

The stocky San Jose State leader — whose Spartan ringmen have dominated NCAA team championships from 1958-60 — was Chicago Golden Glove welterweight champion before moving on to the professional ranks with the Tony Zale stable from 1946-1948. A proud moment of his fight-for-pay career came at Chicago Stadium in 1947 when he fought the semi-final on the Tony Zale — Rocky Graziano championship card before 18,947 fans who paid $422,918 — the record gate for an indoor fight.

Outstanding boxers from the 3d Inf Div, V Corps, VII Corps, 3d Armed Div, 8th Inf Div and Seventh Army Support Command served as demonstrators for the USAREUR coaches clinic.

SLEEP, an item that we all need in varying degrees, often is the key to the success of a hunting or camping trip. Military men on maneuvers or in combat learn to catch a few winks when and where they can. However, there is a world of difference between these situations and a relaxed vacation trip.

In the field with a unit servicemen expect hardships, but not on an outing with friends or the family.

This is why a sleeping bag has become an essential part of any camper's gear, whether he plans an overnight trip or a longer venture into the wilds. And, thanks to today's manmade fibers, anyone can afford the bag he needs.

Prices range from $8 to $80 and the results obtained will vary according to the money spent. For the average summer camper who is going to be where the weather doesn't drop below 50 degrees, a bag in the $10 to $20 class is sufficient.

Examine the label on the bag before you buy to see what type and how much filler is used. Acrylic and polyester fibers usually mean longer life and better insulation, with acetate running close behind. Cheaper bags with poorer insulating qualities are filled with cotton or wool waste.

Dodgers, Cards Tie for First Place in LL Majors

The Little League Majors rolled into high gear last week as eight games were played. When the dust had cleared from the base paths, the Cards and Dodgers were tied for the loop lead with identical 4-0 records.

Dodgers 8, Cubs 7

The Dodgers squeezed by the Cubs 8-7 as Mart Milner turned in a fine relief job to pick up his second win against no losses. Henry Roberson started for the winners and hurled 3 innings, giving up 5 hits and 7 runs. Milner, pitching the last 3 frames, was touched for a lone hit and allowed no runs while striking out 7.

Bill Ralston went the route for the losers giving up 8 runs on 9 hits and doubling 9 Dodgers via the strikeout route.

Cards 29, Giants 5

The Cards collected a total of 18 hits as they crushed the Giants 29-5.

Sid Roche and Fred Crowe combined pitching efforts to limit the Giants to 5 hits. Roche, who started and hurled the first 3 innings, was credited with the win.

Jim Ralston started for the Giants and worked only one inning. He gave up 7 runs on 4 hits and was charged with the loss.

Tom Goulding relieved Ralston and was bombarded for 14 hits and 22 runs.

Six Cards, including winning pitcher Roche, banded out 2 hits each.
